DYNAMICALLY DIFFERENT CLASSROOMS

Create spaces that spark learning

Tuesday 3rd March, 2020 at 4:00-5.30pm
Led by Claire Gadsby

All 78 WLTA School Direct trainees and many NQTs from our partner schools are joining for this valuable and FREE CPD session delivered by the renowned Claire Gadsby.

We still have some additional capacity at the venue and can now open up this opportunity for any school whether part of WLTA or not. We are not charging for this session, but booking is required through this Eventbrite link: Eventbrite

Venue: Sacred Heart High School, 212 Hammersmith Road, London W6 7DG

Tea & Coffee will be provided. In an effort to cut down waste, we would ask that you bring a reusable cup with you, if you are able to.

Pupils spend approx. 10,500 hours in a classroom during their school career. This highly interactive and practical session will show you how to ensure that your learners are captivated rather than merely captives in their learning landscape.

Find out how to use walls, floors and ceilings to support learning that is highly memorable and which boosts metacognition and oracy.

ABOUT CLAIRE GADSBY

Her on-going research means that she remains at the cutting edge of educational practice. Claire has worked in a range of settings across all phases of education, and across the breadth of the school improvement agenda, both in the UK and overseas, however, she remains grounded in classroom practice and in interpreting all issues from the perspective of learning and progress.

Crucially, she is regularly invited to team teach or to deliver her 'Radical Revision Workshops' © to learners meaning that she remains very close to the reality of the classroom. Claire has written materials for the National Strategies and Oxford University Publishing. She has two education books published, the first "The Perfect Assessment for Learning \(AFL\)" is published by Crown House Publishing and her latest, "Dynamically Different Classrooms" is now released by Independent Thinking Press. Both available through Amazon and all good educational book stores.
