EMERGING LEADERSHIP

A leadership development programme for new and aspiring leaders

2 afternoons and 3 twilights

This programme helps develop leadership skills and confidence. It includes strategies to lead and manage a team and to improve teaching and learning. The programme will be delivered by experienced current practitioners from within the Teaching School Alliance.

The programme will help you to:

- Understand the difference between leadership and management
- Develop strategies necessary for good leadership
- Empower others to become leaders of learning

Who should apply?

Those aspiring to their first leadership role and those new to their first leadership role. This could include those with academic or pastoral responsibilities - for example those in their third or fourth year.
