Appendix 1: Booking Form

1 Key Legal Requirements

DfE Statutory Guidance, Induction for Newly Qualified Teachers (England), Dec 2016 clarifies various responsibilities for schools employing NQTs and key elements are summarised below:

- Induction and QA: All NQTs must satisfactorily complete an induction period, quality assured by an Appropriate Body, before they can then be employed as a qualified teacher in a maintained school.
- Timetable: The Headteacher must ensure that the NQT has a timetable reduction of at least 10% to enable them to undertake induction activities in addition to the normal timetable reduction for Planning, Preparation and Assessment work (para 2.19)
- Monitoring and Support Programme: A suitable programme must be put in place for the NQT, personalised to meet their professional development needs, including:
 - support and guidance from an induction tutor who holds QTS and has the time and experience to carry out the role effectively;
 - observation of the NQT's teaching and follow-up discussion;
 - regular professional reviews of progress; and
 - the NQT's observation of experienced teachers (para 2.34).
- Provision of Induction Tutor: The headteacher must identify a suitable person to act as the NQT's induction tutor, to provide day-to-day monitoring and support, and coordination of assessment. (para 2.35)
- Observation: The NQT's teaching should be observed at regular intervals throughout their induction period to facilitate a fair and effective assessment of their teaching practice, conduct and efficiency against the relevant standards (para 2.36)
- Feedback: The NQT and the observer should meet to review any teaching that has been observed. Feedback should be prompt and constructive and should indicate where any development needs have been identified (2.37)
- Progress Review: The induction tutor should carry out progress reviews at frequent intervals. These should be informed by evidence of the NQT's teaching. Objectives should be reviewed and revised in relation to the relevant standards and the needs and strengths of the individual NQT. The NQT should record evidence of progress and agreed steps to support them. (para 2.38)
- Formal Assessments: NQTs should have formal assessments carried out by either the headteacher or the induction tutor. These could be undertaken termly so that they have three per year, as near to the end of each term as possible. Evidence used must be clear and transparent and judgements should relate directly to the relevant standards. NQTs should be kept up to date on their progress. There should be no surprises. The NQT should add their comments. They should then be signed by the induction tutor, headteacher and the NQT with a copy given to the NQT and to the appropriate body (2.39-43)

2 Appropriate Body Role

Sacred Heart High School (as the Teaching School that coordinates the West London Teaching Alliance) is an Appropriate Body (AB) for NQT induction purposes, and has the main responsibility for quality assurance of the induction programme, ensuring that schools fulfil their duties in relation to induction for NQTs where it is appropriate to do so. The AB will offer guidance, support and assistance to schools including induction tutor training, according to available resources. Sacred Heart High School has appointed Lady Margaret High School to assess secondary schools alongside them and Fox Primary School, Avonmore Primary, St Charles Catholic Primary School, West London Free School Primary, Colville Primary School and Ashburnham Community School to act as assessors on our behalf for the Primary NQT programme.

The AB makes the final decision as to whether the NQT has achieved the standards required, and has accordingly satisfactorily completed the induction period. In making this decision, the AB will draw on the recommendation of the Headteacher/ Principal and the available evidence.

It is the AB's responsibility to ensure that schools fulfil their duties in relation to induction. Schools should have robust processes in place in order to meet their responsibilities for induction. This will also help to avoid legal challenge in the event that an NQT is deemed not of a satisfactory standard to remain in the profession and chooses to appeal a decision to fail them.

3 Abiding by Statutory Guidance

All schools and the AB will refer to the Statutory Induction Guidance for newly qualified teachers document to ensure all matters relating to NQTs are fair and equitable, and in line with government policy.

4 Appropriate Body Commitments

As part of the Appropriate Body's statutory duty, it will:

- Operate a rolling cycle of school visits over a 3 year period, visiting NQTs to ensure that all requirements for NQTS are being met by the school, including ensuring that they have enough time to do their role effectively, and that they are supported by an adequately-trained induction tutor.
- In the case of an NQT that is at risk of failing, require that schools inform the assessor/ AB so that appropriate strategies can be put in place to support the NQT.
- will liaise with Head Teachers (or Principals) in order to conduct regular QA.
- Be responsible for the quality and maintenance of all NQT documentation, as well as following statutory guidelines regarding registration and assessment. Schools agree to use NQT Manager to assist in this. The AB will ensure that all NQT records are kept for the required six years.
- Have overall responsibility for the decision regarding whether the NQT has met the appropriate standards for the year, and any other decisions (including the extension of the NQT period) where the standards have not been met. The AB will ensure that all relevant personnel and organisations are informed.
- Inform the relevant authorities (formerly the TRA) regarding all NQTs, whether they complete the period and meet the standards or not.

- Support Sixth Form colleges and FE colleges to secure the 10 days statutory second placement at a Secondary school for NQTs

The AB will also (as local capacity, resources and agreements allow):

- ensure that all schools are supported to meet their duties, which may include advice and guidance for tutors. Extra support for NQTs may incur additional costs, see para 6.2 below.

5 Employing School Commitments

According to their statutory duty, schools agree to:

- be responsible for conducting the required pre-employment, qualification, suitability and eligibility checks;
- following the processes prescribed by the AB to support and manage the induction process, including use of specified reporting and data management systems;
- Ensure that all NQTs are registered with the AB prior to the induction (before the start of term ideally)
- Ensure that effective handover procedures are followed where an NQT may have been registered elsewhere or in a different setting so that the induction period can start in a timely way
- Ensure that deadlines are met pertaining to registration and submission of statutory documentation. Failure to do so may lead to further costs being charged, and may delay the NQT's induction or completion
- Maintain NQT records for the required six years, as laid out by the DFE
- Liaise effectively with the AB so that all matters relating to NQTs can be delivered in accordance with the statutory guidelines
- provide a suitable, personalised induction programme to support the NQT's development.
- Ensure that NQTs are given effective and relevant training so that they are aware of their professional duties within their own context and beyond
- Measure the NQT's progress towards the National Teaching Standards, supported by evidence
- Abide by the statutory guidance requirements for NQTs regarding timetable allocation and the support of a sufficiently qualified tutor alongside access to monitoring and support
- Conduct formal lesson observations as part of a school schedule, with timely professional reviews and termly reports

- ensure that any NQTs who may be at risk of not meeting the standards should receive appropriate monitoring and support, which should include targets for improvement and an action plan
- Liaise with the AB regarding the recommendation by the Headteacher or Principal when the NQT induction period is complete, stating whether the NQT has successfully met the Teachers Standards or not.
